

PRESS RELEASE

The IGE+XAO Group launches its first Android app.

Toulouse, October 3rd 2013 – IGE+XAO announces that it has recently published its first Android app “SEE Electrical Calculator”.

“SEE Electrical Calculator” computes voltage drop, earth leakage, short-circuit currents as well as 14 other electrical functionalities. At each stage, users are prompted with only the options that are valid according to their previous selections. “SEE Electrical Calculator” is the essential Android app for electrical engineering professionals and students. Simple, quick and comprehensive, it computes calculations on a smartphone at any time and any place (especially useful out on a job site).

Available in French and English, “SEE Electrical Calculator” is compatible with Android 1.5 and above. This app is FREE so that a maximum number of people can enjoy a professional electrical calculation tool that is compliant with Cenelec R064-003.

“The launching of this app confirms the IGE+XAO Group strategy: covering all Electrical CAD market segments, from the electrical craftsmen to large key accounts including SMB (Small and Medium Business)” declared Alain Di Crescenzo, Chairman and CEO of the IGE+XAO Group.
